General Information

Course Description

A foundation course in individual and group behavior in organizations. Processes such as perception, motivation and leadership are examined with a focus on issues central to technology-based organizations (innovation, creativity, managing technical professionals).

Restrictions

Junior, Senior standing

Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Articulate the importance of organizational behavior for the effectiveness of organizations.

2. Demonstrate the impact of personality and values on employee reactions to the work experience (emotions, attitudes, stress) and behavior.
3. Analyze employee reactions to the work experience (emotions, attitudes and stress) and their impact on employee behavior.
4. Assess employee motivation concepts and theories in the management of employee behavior and in diagnosing behavior and performance problems.
5. Use the major decision-making concepts and models to improve decision making in the organization as well as to diagnose flawed decisions.
6. Discuss teams in terms of their design and processes and demonstrate the impact of these on team effectiveness.
7. Evaluate organizations in terms of their structure, culture, power and politics to produce organizational forms that support an objective (e.g., innovation) as well as to diagnose organizational effectiveness problems.
8. Determine the appropriateness for different situations of the major leadership concepts and theories in the diagnosis of individual, team and organizational performance problems.
9. Evaluate the organizational change process and models in the management of employee behavior as well as to diagnose change effort failures.

Grading Policy

NJIT Grading Legend

Final Grade Calculation

Final grades for all assignments will be based on the following percentages:

Cases	40%
Assignments	35%
Discussion Forums	14%
Reactions to the Digital Workplace Paper	9%
Reflections (Key Takeaways)	2%

Course Work

Cases (40% of grade) You are required to do a short case for every major topic covered in the course. The cases give you the opportunity to demonstrate your ability to apply organizational behavior concepts to solve problems. In doing so you show your understanding of the relationships among the concepts and their impact on outcomes of interest not just to organizations but also to their members.

Assignments (35% of grade): You are to complete two exercises in every module. Within them are questions that rather directly ask what concepts are and how they are related to each other. There are also questions that require you to apply a model or organizing framework to solving a problem. These exercises help prepare you for the cases.

Discussion forums (14% of grade): You are expected to participate in weekly discussion forums in Canvas. When all students participate in a discussion, it creates an active learning environment that will help you better understand the materials and be more successful in the class. You will post your response and your comments to two classmates' posts by Sunday at 11:59pm of the week they are listed.

Reactions to the Digital Workplace Paper (9% of grade): Digital technologies are changing the workplace. Some do so by changing communication and collaboration in the organization (chat, messaging apps, different mechanisms for visual conversations, various collaborative platforms, task boards) others by changing decision making within it (machine learning, artificial intelligence). The technology impacts individuals, teams and the organization as a whole. What you are to do, is consider what the changes would be and discuss how they could affect your work experience. Due at the end of the term.

Reflections (Key Takeaways) (2% of grade): This exercise is intended to get you to reflect on the significance of what we've covered and identify what you consider to be its two key take-aways things that you found significant, important, useful to you. Graded pass/fail.

Feedback

I will deliver feedback on each assignment using the comments or rubric features in Canvas

Exam Information and Policies

This course does not have any exams. Per the NJIT Online Course Exam Proctoring Policy, this course will use authentic assessment, meaning you will be assessed and graded on your ability to deliver real-world outputs as well as your participation and feedback to other students.

Policy for Late and Missed Work

Late submissions

Discussions and the key take-aways are not accepted late.

The assignments, cases and the Reactions to the Digital Workplace paper are accepted two days late with a 3% penalty for work submitted after midday (12:00 PM) of the first day. A day is a calendar day meaning that all days of the week (Monday to Sunday) are included in lateness calculations as are holidays and days in break or vacation periods.

Missed work submissions

Discussions can't be made-up. The discussion with the lowest grade is excluded from the course grade calculation. Key take-aways can't be made up. The key take-away with the lowest grade is excluded from the grade calculation. Assignments can't be made-up. The exercise with the lowest grade is excluded from the course grade calculation. Cases can't be made-up. No case is excluded from the course grade calculation. The Reactions to the Digital Workplace paper can't be made-up.

Email Etiquette

This is a business course, and the expectation is that you will conform to appropriate business letter writing practice in all of your email to me. The following are the basics.

- Put the course name (e.g. course name or course number) in the subject line
- Identify the subject of the e-mail with a brief but descriptive summary of the topic: include a proper salutation and the assignment details such as the title, homework, or test.
- Proofread your email for proper sentence structure, capitalization, spelling and punctuation.
- Conclude the e-mail message with a proper closing (e.g. Regards, Sincerely) and your full name.

(Note: Do not email requests for additional grade points unless there is an error in the grading. Please note that any grade discrepancies must be addressed within 2 weeks of the assignment due date. Grades are not 'given out' by the professor; they are 'earned' by the student. So, make sure that you 'earn' a grade that you can live with.)

Academic Integrity

"Academic Integrity is the cornerstone of higher education and is central to the ideals of this course and the university. Cheating is strictly prohibited and devalues the degree that you are working on. As a member of the NJIT community, it is your responsibility to protect your educational investment by knowing and following the NJIT academic code of integrity policy.

Please note that it is my professional obligation and responsibility to report any academic misconduct to the Dean of Students Office. Any student found in violation of the code by cheating, plagiarizing or using any online software inappropriately will result in disciplinary action. This may include a failing grade of F, and/or suspension or dismissal from the university. If you have any questions about the code of Academic Integrity, please contact the Dean of Students Office at dos@njit.edu"

Netiquette

Throughout this course, you are expected to be courteous and respectful to classmates by being polite, active participants. You should respond to discussion forum assignments in a timely manner so that your classmates have adequate time to respond to your posts. Please respect opinions, even those that differ from your own, and avoid using profanity or offensive language.

Weekly Expectations

The course is organized by weekly modules. These modules cover one major topic each. In a typical week you would:

- Watch lectures
- Do the assigned readings
- Participate in a class discussion forum
- Complete an exercise
- Do a case study
- State what your “takeaways” are

In terms of weekly deliverables, the intended pattern is as follows: Discussions open on Thursdays and your post and peer replies are due on Sundays; Assignments are due on Saturdays; Case studies are due the Monday of the following week; Reflections are due Wednesday of the following week All assignments should be submitted by 11:59 pm. Specific dates are on Canvas, see the Course Summary on the Syllabus page or the Calendar for an overview.
