Course Description

HUM 101 is an introduction to college-level writing. In this course, students are introduced to writing's rhetorical dimensions; they are asked to consider the purpose, audience, occasion, and genre that are called for in a variety of writing, speaking, or visual assignments. The course also focuses on the writing processes, asking students to brainstorm topics, to write drafts, and to revise their writing based on reflection and peer feedback. Writing and reading go hand-in-hand, so students are asked to read challenging articles, essays, and prose, and to consider paintings, films, or other visual compositions. Academic writing begins from the assumption that written, visual, and spoken texts can be in conversation with each other. Thus, the readings serve as both models of effective communication and as beginning places for students' own arguments and analyses.

Prerequisites

Permission of the Humanities Department is required. Entrance is determined by placement score or completion of HUM 099 with a grade of C or better.

Course Goals

- Use writing as a tool for critical thinking and reflection
- Practice writing as a process by using various brainstorming, invention, revision, and editing strategies

Attendance

Attendance is critical to your success in this class. Participation in in-class activities and discussions is similar to the professional world. At a minimum, this means showing up on time, being prepared, and contributing to class discussions. Your level of engagement with the material will subsequently impact how much you get from the class.

You may miss two classes without penalty. Every subsequent unexcused absence will result in the deduction of participation points. Students who expect to miss class for religious observances must submit to me a written list of dates that will be missed by September 13, 2019 (per university policy). More than six unexcused absences (three weeks of the course) will result in the automatic failure of the course.

Attendance on peer review days is mandatory. If you know in advance that you will miss one of these days, please meet with me to arrange an alternative solution.

Please check Canvas and contact your classmates for missed work.

Canvas

Access to all assignments, some readings, and class forums will be provided via the course Canvas site, located at <https://canvas.njit.edu/>

Please log into Canvas regularly to make sure you stay up-to-date with our class. All assignments must be submitted through Canvas.

Late Work

Assignments are due at the beginning of class unless otherwise specified. Late work will either not be accepted (except in the case of an excused absence) or be penalized. Should you know in advance that you have having trouble completing an assignment, please let me know in advance.

Drafts

Drafting and revising are critical to success in this class, and to that end, substantial work between drafts must be evident. Each draft will make up 5% of your final draft grade for each essay, and failure to complete drafts will lower your final draft grade. If you were given notes during a peer review, or comments from me, their effect on your writing should be apparent. Spell-checking, addition, and format changes alone are not enough to constitute a revised draft. For a draft to receive full credit, it must meet the requirements outlined on the essay assignment (length, topic, format, and so forth).

Email & Technology

If you need to get a hold of me email is my preferred method. I typically respond to your emails within 24 hours. Please plan accordingly. Remember to maintain an appropriate tone in all school-related correspondence. Include an appropriate SUBJECT line and your FULL name in all emails. I will not respond to emails that do not include the sender's name. Please notify me via email if you plan to attend office hours.

Cell phones should not be used during class unless needed for a specific activity. Please set them to silent as a courtesy to your classmates and instructor.

Laptops should only be open when we are drafting. For discussions and presentations they should remain closed.
